About This Game

Game genre: Indie-horror

Actions take place in the distant year of 2072. Future technologies let rich people forget about gaming consoles, which allows to fully integrate a human, both physically and mentally* into the virtual world!

The game has 5 main characters that participate in a deadly show called "The Other Side of the Screen".

Each player has to find a way out of his location. The levels and their difficulty are completely different.

You are given an opportunity to play for any of the mentioned characters.

If you want to open a secret ending, you will have to complete the game with each and every one of them!

One player gets only one life. There are no "save" buttons in the game, so you'll have to be very cautious and attentive to survive.

Game features:

- Choice of characters
- A wide variety of level themes for every taste
- High-quality soundtrack

- Professional voiceovers

I found this game to be nauseating to play, and playing it for just a few moments caused me to feel ill with sweat forming on the skin of my face. Ugh. Not to mention, the "puzzles" seem to be very poorly thought out. It feels like a very quickly made game and quite frankly.. it's just NOT "fun".

Here's a video of my exeprience with this game:

My score: 5% \(out of 100 possible\) ...Not recommended.

Recommendation Instead: Wick, Into the Gloom, or Cry of Fear \(free\). [Recommendation Instead: Wick, Into the Gloom, or Cry of Fear \(free\). For the price, its a pretty decent horror game, 2 dollars for about 90 minutes worth of fun so I have no problems with that. It did scare me several times, and for the graphics it does a good job with atmospheric horror. Not many puzzles, but the ones that are there I did enjoy.

Only 2 complaints, no english voice over (not huge problem with the text there) and the music during the spider room and the red room was more unpleasant than scary.

Overall I had a good time playing it so I don't regret my purchase at all..
